ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention relates to novel recombinant fusion proteins containing a protein sequence having the biological activity of glucose dehydrogenase as one of its constituents and to their utilization for simple and efficient detection of any type of proteins/polypeptides in SDS-Page gels and for quick optimization of expression systems that can express the above-mentioned proteins/polypeptides.